The best exhibitions on this week

1 Thomas Struth Whitechapel Gallery

A first London retrospective for one of Germany's great photographers shows his range, ambition and scale over the past 30 years.

► Sep 16

2 The Vorticists: Manifesto for a Modern World Tate Britain

It may have disappointed in its lack of blast and fizz, but this survey of an important fledgling modern movement may not be repeated (ends Sun). ► Sep 4

3 Signs of a Struggle V&A

This pick'n'mix of 'Photography in the Wake of Postmodernism' is a worthy appetiser for the V&A's forthcoming blockbuster (see Reviews). ► Nov 27

4 Robin & Lucienne Day: Design and the Modern Interior PM Gallery

A reminder, if it was needed, of the influential mid-century designers responsible for the 'New Look' and 'Festival Style' of '50s Britain. ► Sep 4

5 The Museum of Everything: Exhibition #4 Selfridges

For its latest venture the inventive champions of art by the marginalised and overlooked sets up shop in Selfridges windows. Sep 2 ► Oct 25
