

ART WORLD

Must-See Art Guide: The Netherlands

Audrey Fair, Thursday, March 10, 2016

[...]

Next, let's head to Rotterdam for two exciting museum shows. Ugo Rondinone reveals a magical installation populated with clowns and rainbows at the Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen. The Swiss artist brings together both new and older works into one large, colorful examination of human existence. Just don't be afraid of clowns—there are nearly 45 on view! Recently opened, "The Museum of Everything" at the Kunsthal Rotterdam displays a major survey of international works from over 100 alternative artists from the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries, including Henry Darger, Guo Fengyi, Martín Ramírez, and Sam Doyle alongside works by established artists like Ed Ruscha, John Baldessari, and Grayson Perry.

[...]

Calvin and Ruby Black, Untitled (c. 1970). Courtesy of The Museum of Everything and Kunsthal Rotterdam.

Exhibition: "The Museum of Everything"

When: March 5–May 22, 2016

Where: Kunsthal Rotterdam, Museumpark, Westzeedijk 341, Rotterdam, The Netherlands